

As a Citizen, here is how you can get involved:

- I. Become a voter registration church coordinator:
 - This “point person” is responsible for getting the congregation active in the political life of the community by:
 - Conducting non-partisan voter registration and get-out-the-vote drives.
 - Educating the congregation on getting involved, biblical teaching on civil government, issues, and candidates’ positions.
 - Encouraging neighborhood and block level political involvement.
- II. Place a voter registration display in a visible location.
- III. Provide voter registration forms and vote at home forms.
 - Available at local post offices, county registrar of voters, and local Secretary of State offices.
- IV. Citizen Sunday
 - Designate a series of Sundays as “Citizen Sunday” to register voters.
- V. Display the Americans of Faith poster.
- VI. Provide voter guides and sample ballots:
 - During election years, many churches make voter guides available to their members. This is permissible educational activity as long as the guides do not reflect a partiality, which could be misunderstood as an endorsement of a particular party or candidate.
 - Educate members about the ballot process by showing them how easy it is. This makes them more likely to vote on Election Day.
- VII. On the Sunday before an election, remind the congregation about the civic duty to vote.
